DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-34 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-16, drawn to a method of fabricating an array with multiple sets of neighboring features, classifiable in class 435, subclass DIG 49.
 - II. Claims 17-28 and 32, drawn to an apparatus for fabricating an array, classifiable in class 435, subclass DIG 44.
 - III. Claims 29-31 and 33-34, drawn to a computer program product for use with an apparatus, classifiable in class 700, subclass 1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The Inventions of Group I and the Inventions of Groups II and III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the apparatus, and the computer program product, of Groups II and III, can be used for printing ink on paper, which is a different from the method of making an array with multiple sets of neighboring features.

Inventions of II and III are related as combination and subcombination.

Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the apparatus of Group II may deposit two neighboring sets of features with a distance between them that is less than the average distance between features within the sets, unlike the computer product of Group III; or because apparatus may possess novelty in the mechanics of claimed apparatus of Group II. The subcombination has separate utility such as controlling the pulse jets to deposit drops that run together, as in coating an object.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for each of Groups I-III is not required for each of the other Groups, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Election/Restrictions

3. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: A specific feature.

Art Unit: 1639

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, Claims 1-34 are generic.

4. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: A specific biopolymer and a consonant set of biomonomer, if appropriate to the election of species required in above paragraph 3.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1-34 are generic.

5. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: A specific number of different dispensers.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1-34 are generic.

6. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: A specific number of features.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1-34 are generic.

Art Unit: 1639

7. Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

8. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Art Unit: 1639
